After 24 years, Stevens to retire

Office investigation ends

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

City Clerk Bob Stevens has resigned, effective April 19, after more than two decades in the office.

The resignation comes on the heels of a month-long police investigation.

The investigation uncovered evidence of intentional misdirection of city funds in the clerk's office, but not for personal gain by anyone in the clerk's office, a source involved in the investigation said.

Stevens said that his resignation has absolutely nothing to do with the investigation.

"This has nothing to do with any allegations you may have heard. I have been considering this since recently returning from vacation," Stevens said. Deputy Clerk Charlotte Suhre has also resigned, Mayor Ron Seiph said.

Stevens' letter of resignation to Seiph, submitted Thursday, cites health concerns and a desire to enjoy the remainder of his life in private.

"It has been my honor to serve the citizens of Granite City since 1970, and I have always served with pleasure and a deep sense of satisfaction," the letter states.

Stevens, who served as city comptroller until that position was temporarily abolished in April 1970, was appointed city clerk by Mayor Don Partney in June of that year upon the resignation of then-Clerk Homer "Cal" Pendleton. Stevens has held the office since that time and was elected to a seventh term in 1993.

Stevens' grandfather, A.W. Stevens, was Granite City's first clerk. A.L. Stevens, Bob Stevens' father, also served as city clerk for a number of years.

Stevens says in the letter that now may be a good time to closely examine the role of the clerk in city government.

"It was my intention to complete my existing term of office, but in the March

Painting an underwater mural may have never come to mind as a "love-to-try-sometime" activity.

Now that it's been brought up, however, a chance to try it out comes up next weekend.

The Bubblemaster Diving Club in Granite City will hold its annual 24-hour Dive-A-Thon beginning at 4 p.m. Saturday, April 16, at Metro Sports in Alton. All proceeds from the organization that grants wishes to terminally ill children in the St. Louis area.

A $10 donation will qualify the donor for a one-on-one "Intro to Scuba" session with a qualified dive instructor.

Participants will then be able to join other divers coloring a 10-foot mural on the bottom of the pool and other underwater activities, including an underwater scavenger hunt.

During the Dive-A-Thon, scuba diving participants will earn pledges while playing underwater hockey, chess, checkers and Diveopoly or by swimming laps and participating in other events.

"We guarantee you — you've never been to a fun event like this before," said Karen Retzer, co-chairperson of the event. "We invite everyone to join us for a great time for some great kids."

A large number of items donated by area businesses will be sold by silent auction throughout the event.

This year's Dive-A-Thon is co-sponsored by the Instant Underwater Divers Club of St. Louis and Metro Sports. For more information, call Phil at Aquatic Adventures Dive Shop, 831-6275.

Belcoff closes bar

Owner gets prison sentence

Hours after its owner was sentenced to 105 months in federal prison, The Bar at 2127 Edwardsville Road in Madison was ordered closed.

Richard Aulbaugh was sentenced Friday morning by Judge William Beatty in East St. Louis Federal Court. He pleaded guilty Jan. 18 to a charge of conspiracy to distribute cocaine and marijuana.

Aulbaugh was originally charged in September and in November entered into a plea agreement. Under that agreement, Aulbaugh stipulated to the facts contained in the charge.

Also on Friday, Madison Mayor John Belcoff, in his role of city liquor commissioner, suspended Aulbaugh's city's liquor license for The Bar and ordered its doors closed at noon.

According to the notice of suspension served to Aulbaugh at his sentencing, Aulbaugh "admitted, during the investigation of the federal charge, that you at your licensed premises, The Bar, on numerous and diverse occasions sold illegal drugs and/or collected money owed for illegal drug sales that took place at or away from your licensed premises."

As a result, the notice says, the city has "reason to believe that any continued operation of your licensed premises will immediately threaten the welfare" of the city, state and community.

The suspension is pending a hearing on permanent revocation of the license at 9 a.m. Friday. If the license is revoked, no one may hold a license for the location for at least one year.

Police Officer Paul Bargiel and Sgt. Steve Skoklo went to The Bar and the license was surrendered by Joseph Costello. According to the police report, Bargiel ordered Costello to close the tavern and lock the doors and Costello complied.

Bargiel said information concerning Aulbaugh's status would be provided to the state agencies responsible for licensing currency exchanges. Aulbaugh also operates The Currency Exchange located next door to The Bar.

19-year-old sought in beating of officer

Venice police are seeking a 19-year-old Madison man charged with beating a police officer over the head with a crowbar Wednesday evening.

Eddie L. Ingram, of the 1600 block of Third Street, was charged with aggravated battery of a police officer, a Class 3 felony, in a warrant issued Thursday. Bond on the warrant is $40,000.

Ingram allegedly struck rookie Venice Police Officer Terry Haynes on the head with a crowbar in front of Adam's Market, 1901 Logan Street, at 5:50 p.m. Wednesday.

Haynes was dispatched to the front of the store to investigate a report of alleged drug dealing. When he arrived, Ingram, another man and eight to 10 juveniles were standing around in front of the store, according to a police report.

Haynes asked Ingram for identification, Ingram cursed at Haynes and then struck Haynes in the head with a crowbar, the report states.

During the ensuing struggle, one of the juveniles kicked Haynes in the back, the report states.

Ingram and the others then escaped on foot. A backup officer arrived and took Haynes to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he received stitches and was released.

Haynes will be off work until the middle of this week, police said.

Town meeting promises fireworks

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

One side is calling it "good old-fashioned township government" while the other side is calling it "mob rule."

Either way, the Annual Town Meeting in Granite City Tuesday promises to be interesting.

Two resolutions on behalf of Township Assessor Darlene Laub are expected to come before the township electors all the citizens in attendance — at the Town Meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Township Hall, 2000 Delmar Ave.

One resolution — if approved — would require the town board, made up of the mayor and aldermen, to immediately enter into a settlement agreement with Laub, ending a lawsuit she filed against the town board after it cut her budget last year. The settlement agreement includes a provision to pay $5,000 in attorney fees for Laub and incorporate the budget protection provided

There is no doubt that the statutes give the township trustees the right to set the budget. But the statutes also say I have to be given adequate funds to operate. So let's put it before the people and see how it goes.

in the second proposed resolution. That resolution calls for Laub's office to be provided money for a "detailed property record system" in the amount of the difference, if any, between Laub's requested 1994 budget of $327,736.27 and any 1994 budget set by the town board. If approved, this resolution would have the effect of making Laub's requested budget uncuttable because her office would receive the amount she requested even if the town board set a lesser budget.

"We're going back to good old-fashioned township government — let the people decide," Laub said. "There is no doubt that the statutes give the township trustees the right to set the budget. But the statutes also say I have to be given adequate funds to operate. So let's put it before the people and see how it goes."

Laub said the budget proposal she

Venice still lacks chief

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Venice is still without a police chief, but Mayor Tyrone Echols said Tuesday that "I guess something will be done one way or another in the fairly near future."

Echols suspended Police Chief James Bennett with pay in the first week of March.

At the time, Echols said the decision to suspend the chief was "strictly a personnel matter," and that Bennett "may or may not" return, depending on "how things work out."

On Tuesday, Echols said he was "getting ready to do some leg work and see what kind of progress (Bennett) has made concerning the problem," but Echols declined to be more specific.

During the suspension, the shift commanders have been taking care of the day-to-day operations of the department, with Echols acting as police chief when necessary.

"Things have been going pretty well," Echols said, adding that his only dealings with the department during Bennett's suspension were "things I would have dealt with as mayor anyway."

Despite persistent rumors otherwise, Echols said no effort has been made to recruit a replacement for Bennett and no one has been approached to take his place.

The following are among incidents reported recently at area police departments.

Burglary

• Robert W. Fuller Jr., 39, of the 1300 block of Meridian Street, was arrested at 11:20 p.m. April 4 and later charged with residential burglary.

Fuller allegedly took a video cassette recorder and two lamps from a home four houses from his own between 11 p.m. and 11:15 p.m.

Fuller was held in lieu of $50,000 bond.

DUIs

• Robert P. Sanders, 31, of St. Charles, Mo., was arrested at 8:32 p.m. April 4 for driving under the influence of alcohol, falling to reduce speed to avoid an accident and driving without proof of insurance.

An officer reported seeing a gold Chevrolet Chevette strike the rear of a tractor-trailer while both vehicles were northbound on Highway 3 just south of Chain of Rocks Road.

Sanders, who had been driving the Chevette, was pinned inside the car. He was taken to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center after firefighters extricated him from the car.

Sanders refused to submit to a blood test and was charged. He was released from the hospital after treatment for minor injuries.

• Jessi L. McEntire, 29, of the 2000 block of Cleveland Boulevard, was arrested at 8:20 p.m. April 4 for driving under the influence of alcohol and resisting a peace officer.

An officer responding to a report of an accident on the parking lot at QuikTrip, 2159 Madison Ave., reported finding that a blue 1972 Oldsmobile Delta 88, with license plate "48-1111," had struck three Checker taxicabs parked there.

A pedestrian, who had been standing between two of the taxicabs, was sandwiched between them. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, treated and released.

McEntire, the driver of the Oldsmobile, took two field sobriety tests, submitted blood samples and was charged.

He allegedly resisted a police officer at the police station, according to a police report.

Public defender facing staff cut

A budget shortfall in the Madison County Public Defender's Office could undo much of the progress made in reducing a backlog of drunken-driving cases.

Public Defender John Rekowski said he may have to lay off a part-time attorney dedicated to DUI cases because of an estimated $5,500 deficit projected by the end of the fiscal year in November.

"We're running real close to the edge this year," Rekowski said Tuesday.

The budget problems stem from the County Board's decision last fall to limit most departments to the same funding they had last year, which is forcing some department heads to absorb employees—raises from within.

The budget plan, which is intended to keep the county in the black despite an expected tax revenue falloff, is hitting

March 29

• At 11:45 a.m., responded as a medical assist at Thomas Mortuary.

Rekowski hard because most of his funds are already spent on salaries and benefits rather than equipment or utilities.

"I have a department which is 95 percent salaries so when the County Board puts a lid on the budget I can't (skip buying) a squad car or ... food like the other departments can do to make up the difference," Rekowski said.

Rekowski added a part-time attorney he started a few years ago at the request of judges to help reduce the backlog of DUI cases, and State's Attorney William Haine also added staff.

The backlog has been reduced, but some officials are worried a layoff in Rekowski's office could lead to another glut of DUI cases clogging the court system.

"It would increase the number of cases backed up in the system greatly and make the job for my people a nightmare," Haine said. "I hope the County Board realizes the importance of this situation. Board member Jack Frandsen of Alhambra, a member of the Finance Committee, said, "I don't want to see this interfere with the operations of the court."

Frandsen and other Finance Committee members are considering drawing on the county's $10 million reserve fund to help Rekowski cover the projected $5,500 deficit.

Rekowski sent the committee a letter Tuesday outlining his concerns and the budget problems.

"Obviously, if we've got less people working on these cases, they're going to move more slowly," Rekowski said.

In addition to Rekowski, three full-time attorneys, five part-time attorneys and two secretaries work in the Public Defender's Office. A federal grant pays the salaries and benefits of another full-time attorney and a full-time investigator.

The department's budget for the fiscal year ending Nov. 30 is $346,745, county figures showed.

Haine urges action on DUI delays

Madison County's top prosecutor is calling on judges to punish defendants who slow their DUI sentencing by dragging their heels on alcohol-abuse evaluations.

"It contributes to the backlog," State's Attorney William Haine said Wednesday. "They have to be evaluated so we know what kind of treatment they need, and we can't go forward as long as they keep delaying."

State law requires defendants to undergo evaluations after DUI convictions, to determine what degree of treatment they need to deal with alcohol-abuse problems and prevent future DUIs.

Haine, however, said some people are holding off on evaluations in an effort to delay final sentencing and fines.

Those delays add to a backlog that Haine termed "a concern but not a crisis."

"These guys will come in and say they didn't have time to get over there and have the evaluation done, and they'll put it off for weeks at a time, said Haine, who said he did not know the number of DUI cases pending in Circuit Court. "A small number of them genuinely can't afford it, but that isn't normally the reason for the delay because when we push them they manage to come up with the money."

The tests, conducted by local social service agencies, cost between $100 and $150.

Haine said he is working with judges to figure out a way to crack down on delays without good reason. Meetings are planned in the coming weeks to discuss the problem, he said.

"I haven't heard of anyone else doing this in other counties, but with the volume of cases we have, something has got to be done. These guys are thumbing their noses at the court and the entire criminal justice system," Haine said.

Associate Judge Lew Mallott, who handles a large number of the county DUI cases, could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

Madison County Public Defender John Rekowski said he's wary of Haine's concern.

"I'm sure it slows down some cases, but you have to remember this isn't something the defendant wants to have done," Rekowski said. "If it's a slowdown in the system, it's a slowdown that the Legislature passed."

Ridesharing program funded

Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the board of Madison County Transit, recently announced that agreements have been signed with Illinois and Missouri for funding of a new regional ridesharing program in the seven-county St. Louis metropolitan area.

The program will receive $4.7 million from the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) over the next three years to develop and promote transportation alternatives for the 1.2 million workers of the St. Louis region.

Ridesharing will work directly with employers to offer assistance to employees who want to join carpools and vanpools, or to use Metro Link and buses to get to and from work," said Hagnauer.

Garrett calls new mileage proposal 'discriminatory'

A drive is mounting to eliminate all mileage reimbursements to Madison County Board members, despite allegations that such a move stems from racism and political paybacks.

Legislative Committee member Harold Byers proposed Thursday doing away with all mileage reimbursements for in-county travel by board members, and this prompted a rebuke from fellow committee member Don Garrett of Madison.

"That is in all cases, gentlemen, a discriminatory act," Garrett said, arguing that to travel money he would have to spend a greater portion of his $8,500 annual County Board stipend for travel than board members who live closer to Edwardsville.

Garrett was already steamed about the board's beefed-up mileage rule that prohibits members from collecting mileage money for multiple committee meetings when they fall within three hours of each other.

He said that change was motivated by racism and malice on the part of Auditor Fred Bathon. "I think this is a racist act. I think it was aimed at me because I didn't vote for Mr. Bathon's pay raise," Garrett said. Bathon's pay raise, the committee, he black, told the committee.

Bathon and committee Chair man Alan Dunstan dismissed Garrett's accusations, which included charges that Bathon was trying to tell the board how to conduct its business.

"I'm just following the rules set by the County Board and the Finance Committee. I'm not pretending that I run this county or that I'm bigger than the 29-member board," Bathon said.

Board members are paid 25 cents for every mile they drive to and from committee meetings.

Garrett sparked the mileage controversy 17 months ago when he admitted to padding his mileage claims with trips to nonexistent committee meetings.

At the time, he was collecting $150 to $200 a month in travel money, but since the mileage rules have been tightened, his monthly checks have fallen to about $80, county records show.

He has threatened to sue the County Board if mileage reimbursements are done away with.

After Garrett's outburst Thursday, Byers agreed to withdraw his proposal to do away with all mileage claims and instead asked the committee to approve a measure asking the County Board to codify the three-hour rule regarding back-to-back committee meetings.

The three-hour rule was put in place by the Finance Committee several months ago, but some board members, including Garrett, have argued it should have been voted on by the full board.

Despite Garrett's protest, he joined the three other members in approving sending the proposal to the full board.

"I can't figure out where this guy is coming from," Bathon said after the meeting.

Eyers said he intends to amend the proposal when it gets to the County Board so it eliminates all mileage reimbursements for in-county travel.

"I didn't have the votes to get it through (the committee) so I'll have to wait for the full board," Byers said after the meeting.

Member Don Rea of Pontoon Beach, who is not a member of the committee but attended Thursday's meeting, also said he would work to see the proposal amended.

"It's gotten totally out of hand. I get $8,500 a year to be a board member, and as far as I'm concerned, that should be used to cover any costs involved in my acting as a board member."

Durbin confident on health plan

By Scott Wuerz
Staff writer

20th District Congressman Dick Durbin said time is the biggest foe of President Bill Clinton's health care reform package.

Durbin visited Edwardsville Thursday, the last stop in a tour of town meetings in which he listened to suggestions and complaints from constituents.

Durbin said that although the differences among several policies being debated in Congress are vast, two factors are universal: most people believe some type of major health care reform is in order, and it had better happen quickly.

"Seventy-five percent of people answering a poll (conducted in the 20th District) said they consider health care reform to be a high priority," Durbin said. "But the general public couldn't pick a plan from the ones currently on the table because, frankly, this has been a tough debate to follow. I think they're pretty confused by everything that is going on right now." Durbin, a co-sponsor of the Clinton health plan, said many changes will likely be made before any plan is accepted.

"There are a lot of ideas we're going over right now, and that will take some time," Durbin said. "But I'm confident a plan will be approved before August, because we're flexible as long as three basic criteria are met: The plan must offer basic health care to anyone, it must allow freedom to choose the doctor of the patient's choice, and it must preserve Medicare."

Durbin said Clinton will sign any bill that gets through Congress and meets those criteria.

Durbin said the August date is key because it marks the end of the current session of Congress, and the health care issue may lose its momentum if delayed until next spring.

"The problem right now is finding a political compromise," Durbin said. "The current health care system has many flaws in it, and need (for reform) is there, but if (Congress) waits until next year, things are just going to become more confused."

"On the far left, some say they won't vote anything less than a Canadian-style health system and on the Republican side, some won't vote for any change at all. What we have to do is find a plan in the middle which will get enough votes from moderates in both parties to pass. We've got four months to do it, and I think that is an attainable goal."

Anti-racist groups to crash KKK rally

A coalition of anti-racist groups are hoping to cash in on a planned May 6 KKK rally.

The Madison County Committee for Racial and Religious Harmony is joining with the Ongoing, Positive, Inclusive, Nonviolent coalition and Springfield-based Project Lemonade to raise money to promote tolerance education.

Members of all three groups will spend the next few weeks asking individuals to pledge money for each minute of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan rally on the plaza between the courthouse and Administration Building.

The longer the Klan rallies the more money they make for groups opposed to their philosophy, Project Lemonade activist Bill Seltzer said.

The Madison County fund-raising effort is being coordinated with two others that are countering Klan rallies scheduled May 7 in Springfield and Decatur.

"Once the rallies are over, we'll add up their times, divide by three and use that final number to tabulate how much the sponsors owe," Seltzer said.

The money will be funneled to local chapters of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith and the Southern Poverty Law Center in Montgomery, Ala.

"We ask the sponsors to make their checks out to whichever group they want their money to go to, and when we receive them, we'll send them along," Seltzer said.

Project Lemonade raised about $10,000 in January when the Klan rallied in Springfield.

"That was the first time we did it and it was a big success," Seltzer said. Organizers are not sure how much would be raised in response to next month's rallies.

The Committee for Racial and Religious Harmony and OPIN formed after KKK leader Thomas Robb approached Madison County officials earlier this year about staging a rally.

Edwardsville attorney Larry Talliana, who chairs the Committee for Racial and Religious Harmony, said he and OPIN leaders decided to team up with Project Lemonade to benefit from that group's experience.

"It sounded like a great idea so we decided to go along with them," Talliana said Tuesday. OPIN leaders also have plans for a counter-rally with singing and speakers the same day as the Klan gathering but in another location.

Talliana called off plans for a May 6 rally on the courthouse plaza after the Edwardsville chapter of the NAACP asked him to withdraw his permit request because counterdemonstrations are deemed to add to the publicity the Klan wants.

Wildflower walks planned

The Watershed Nature Center in Edwardsville will offer a series of bird and wildflower walks on four Saturdays in April and May: April 16, 23, 30 and May 7. The walks are free and open to the public.

Each Saturday, Ginger and Jack McCall will lead bird-watching groups. Along the center's wooded trails and wetland habitats from 8:30-10 a.m. Participants are encouraged to bring binoculars. Beginning at 10 a.m., Gayle Day will conduct guided tours of wildflowers and spring-flowering trees.

Participants should meet at the center's observation deck, located off Terry Avenue, immediately west of N.O. Nelson School and Hope Park. For more information, call 692-7538 or 656-7437.

Hard work on WPA and CCC

TO THE EDITOR:

The governor of every state should start a WPA (Works Progress Administration) project for those 25 and older, and a CCC (Civilian Conservation Corps) camp for the 16 and over, for the men.

President Franklin Roosevelt had the best idea in the good-old days. There was a WPA project at the time for women. I know; I was on it.

I didn't get paid. I went to learn sewing. There were even GED (General Education Development) classes.

The older people of today didn't work to earn Social Security the way I did. My dad was on WPA when the American Car Foundry shut down.

My oldest brother went to a CCC camp when my dad died in 1934. My brother took his place on the WPA. My younger brother went to a CCC camp.

I'm not sure, but I think the WPA paid $40 per month and the CCC camp $30 per month. My mom had to raise five children on $38 a month.

I think the mayor should figure something out along that line. The young girls should go to school and not stay at home and have babies to keep from working or going to school.

The taxpayers are paying for this. That's not fair to the decent kids that are going to high school and college.

Granite City has some bad streets and crummy alleys. All this could be fixed by putting the hoodlums to work at a minimum salary, not union wages.

I'm on Social Security. I worked for it!

Mobility for senior citizens

TO THE EDITOR:

It has recently been brought to my attention that there is a possibility that the Granite City Township bus service for the elderly and handicapped is to be discontinued due to a lack of funds.

I am a senior car owner, still healthy and able to drive wherever I wish to go. However, there are many, many Granite City residents of my age group (primarily women) who are unable to do so. It is for these people I plead that the community should continue the service.

If I live long enough, I will be in the same category as they. Why not consider a minimal charge of perhaps a dollar a ride to offset some of the expense? Most people who are able to get out and about can afford that small fee.

These people have been taxpayers all of their lives. How can the community deny them the privilege of staying mobile? The days of the neighborhood grocers, etc., are long gone. Many of these bus riders have no family nearby to furnish them transportation they sorely need. The service is a necessity for the older and disabled citizens of Granite City.

LORRAINE FOGLE
Granite City

Please, don't stop our township bus from running. Without it, we (people from dialysis) will be left without much of a way for transportation.

Some of us are left with no one to help us. I am so shaky at this time, I cannot help myself. My writing is not any good. I hope someone can read this. I did have very nice handwriting. I have had cancer of the kidney since August 1993, and I sure depend on this township bus. So, please, don't take our transportation away. I am a steady rider and a lifelong resident of Granite City.

RUBY TINSLEY
Granite City

Please, don't let them take our township buses away from us. I'm 72 years old. I'd attend the meeting, but no buses run in the evening that I know of.

I have no other way of going to the doctor or hospital. I have a son, but don't make appointments on Saturday or Sunday for doctor's appointments or to go to the hospital. It just happens my son goes to church on Sunday and Wednesday evenings.

We are really counting on the Press-Record/Journal to help us. I also take the bus to get my groceries. Please, do your best. We would be glad to pay the fare.

ANGIE METZ
Granite City

I, for one, here at Anchorage Homes, think it would be tragic if the bus service would be cut off, as so many of our people cannot get to a bus stop.

Our bus drivers are very exceptional people, as they help us on and off the bus when going to the grocery store, pharmacy and doctor's appointments. Please, do not do this injustice by denying us this service.

FLORENCE "MIDGE" BLAIR
Granite City

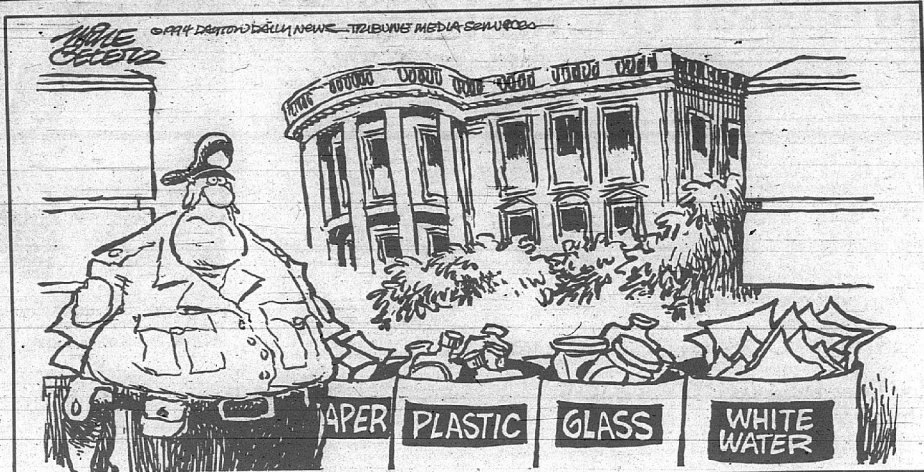

I don't know how I'd manage without our township bus. I have no other transportation except the taxi, and they are much too expensive.

I go to the doctor once a month, the nursing home once a week, the drug store for medication and often depend on the bus for grocery shopping.

I hope they don't discontinue the service.

It would be very inconvenient for a lot of us older ladies and gentlemen.

Illinois should fulfill its promise to veterans

TO THE EDITOR:

Over 15 years ago, Illinois enacted the Illinois Veterans Grant (IVG) to reward the men and women of this great state who have served in the armed forces of this proud country.

This grant gave veterans the promise of a college education upon their return to Illinois. With it came a price: serve and defend this state and country — with your life, if necessary.

Many have served, not even aware of the IVG. Upon their return to their homes and families, it became evident that, to find suitable employment, they would have to get more education. It was then they discovered the benefit of their service.

With the promise of a college degree, returning to the work force would now be possible. The state made the promise, and until recently kept it, ensuring there would be enough funding to provide for all veterans.

A provision was added to protect the student from monetary loss that might occur due to unforeseen shortfalls in funds. This provision stipulates that colleges will be responsible for the amount not reimbursed by the grant. The state and community colleges have no choice but to accept IVG students and accept whatever payment the grant provides, regardless of the shortfall that may occur.

The shortfall for the current year is estimated to be 50 percent of the total claims.

It is morally wrong to expect the colleges to pay for a promise the state has made. The colleges are paying the costs up front, but the communities will pay in the end in the form of higher local taxes and property taxes.

It is the responsibility of the state to fund the IVG to the projected cost of education for the veterans who have faithfully served, and are still serving, this state as well as this country.

Those who have served in the armed forces never questioned to what limit they would serve. Did they not defend this country and all that it stands for?

Did they ask "why" on the beaches of Grenada? Did they ask "how far" over the skies of Libya? Did they ask "how much" on the sands of Iraq? No! They kept their promise.

Why, then, can the same not be said of the Illinois Veterans Grant? Don't these men and women who fought for what is right deserve the benefits promised to them?

Those men and women of Illinois who served in Vietnam, who left their families and jobs to fight for freedom, deserve the rewards of their service. The promise was given and it should be kept.

Has the cost of education for veterans become too great? What is the price of freedom? The men and women who have died for that freedom have paid the ultimate price. A price cannot be put on a human life. Nor should there be a limit to the price of freedom.

Those who have returned from service have also paid the price. Now comes the time for this state to give back to the veterans what they have fought for.

The state legislators have to be told how the public feels. They must be told now, while they can still correct the problem, before the college communities are asked to pay.

Funding the IVG is a small price for freedom, and an honorable reward to those who fought to defend it.

Despite vote, Belle owner still betting on Missouri expansion

Argosy Gaming Co. lost a hand but is not ready to fold its gambling interests in Missouri, where voters on April 5 rejected a constitutional amendment to allow games of chance.

The stock of Argosy, which owns the Alton Belle Casino, and the stock of other gambling companies tumbled Wednesday in the wake of the unexpected vote. But Argosy Chief Executive Officer J. Thomas Long said the company still wants to expand into Missouri.

"I think the industry as a whole is only really delayed in Missouri," he said. "This is not long-term. By our posture, this is strictly a delay. It doesn't change our intentions."

Argosy has plans to open floating casinos in downtown St. Louis and in Riverside, Mo., near Kansas City.

Gambling backers are seeking to get a constitutional amendment back on the Missouri ballot in August or November, and Argosy will consider beginning limited gambling operations in Riverside. Missouri law prohibits games of chance, like slot machines, but allows table games of skill, like blackjack and poker.

Mayor Bob Towse said the Missouri rejection is a win-lose situation for Alton. The Alton Belle will remain as one of just two casinos serving the St. Louis market, but the longer it takes Argosy to get boats in the water in Missouri, the longer development of the Alton riverfront will take, he said.

"There's a certain amount of truth when you say (the vote) is good for Alton and bad for Argosy," the mayor said. "However, I also feel for Alton because we're in the process of forming a public-private partnership with Argosy to develop the riverfront."

Argosy and the city have allocated $55,000 to pay for development studies, including one for a marina.

"I don't have access to Argosy's books, but I understand they have made a significant investment (in out-of-state operations)," Towse said.

"Obviously, if their overall financial status is adversely affected—if there is no return on their investment,—that could adversely affect the partnership we're trying to develop for the riverfront."

Argosy stock dropped $4.25 a share Wednesday to close at $18.75 a share.

Argosy is seeking federal Securities and Exchange Commission approval to issue $300 million in corporate bonds to pay for the proposed Missouri ventures and others in Baton Rouge, La., and Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Argosy Chief Operating Officer Steve Norton said Argosy would consider starting blackjack on the original Alton Belle boat, which is in Riverside. Such a move would require Missouri Gaming Commission approval.

Norton said it was unlikely that such a limited operation would be offered in St. Louis because of the competition from the Alton Belle and the Casino Queen in East St. Louis, both of which have slot machines.

Missouri voters became the first in the nation to reject riverboat gambling, defeating it 523,072 to 525,811.

Casino jobs break even, gambling study finds

Illinois riverboat casinos shift jobs instead of creating them, according to a study by University of Illinois economist Earl L. Grinols.

"Riverboat gambling did not create the jobs that were promised and had very little effect on reducing unemployment," he said in his study of 12 Illinois counties where casinos cruise.

A representative of the state riverboat gaming operators group disputed the study's findings.

Grinols, who testified against legalizing riverboat gambling before the Legislature, said the Alton Belle Casino is "probably a perfect example" of static number of jobs.

He reviewed employment statistics in Madison and Jersey counties from one year before the Belle began operating in September 1991 through its first year of operation.

Combined employment in the two counties averaged 22,099 in the year before the Alton Belle opened, Grinols said. A year after the operation began, the counties averaged 22,125 workers, according to the study.

"There were only 36 more jobs in those counties (a year) after the boat opened," Grinols said. "About as many jobs were lost as were created. There was basically one job lost for each job gained by the boat. The net effect was zero."

The Alton Belle attracts tourists, but it also offers a product to local residents.

"All it's doing is taking dollars that could be multiplied throughout the local economy," Grinols said. "Economically speaking, it appears riverboat casinos shift jobs, as opposed to creating jobs."

However, major employers of the Alton area, including Olin Corp., Shell Oil Co., Leclerc Steel Co. and Owens-Illinois Inc., experienced significant employment reductions during the time period of Grinols' study.

"And the gambling advocates will say, 'What would have happened without the boat? We reversed a bad situation,'" he said. "But that's not really true."

Grinols said he conducted a statistical analysis incorporating national labor trends with employment figures and trends in Madison and Jersey counties while assuming the Alton Belle did not exist. The result was, about the same number of people would have been employed without the Belle operation.

"There's a natural turnover, natural changes that occur. Factories are always opening and closing," Grinols said.

Laclede site to be inspected

Widow of victim wins right to look at scene

An accident investigator will get a chance to look for evidence that Laclede Steel Co. in Alton tampered with machines after a wire mill operator was fatally injured.

A court order cleared the way Wednesday for widow Carolyn Schmidt to inspect the accident scene where her husband, Ronald E. Schmidt, died Sept. 29.

"Safety guards were broken on a wire machine that killed my husband," Schmidt's widow, 43, said. "We'll look for evidence that Laclede tampered with Ron's machine to try to repair it shortly after a wire struck him in the head."

Lawyers for Schmidt and Laclede agreed Wednesday on an inspection order signed by Chief Circuit Court Judge Edward Ferguson.

"Our accident expert will move ahead to inspect the wire mill site where Ron Schmidt died," said Alex Miller, a lawyer who represents the widow.

The 47-year-old wire machine operator died after a sharp object penetrated his brain, according to Ferguson's report. Laclede will turn over accident reports and statements by witnesses.

"Laclede will preserve and not disturb or alter the accident site or wire-drawing machines," the order said.

The investigator will look for evidence that Laclede welded a safety shield on Schmidt's wire machine shortly after the accident, his widow said.

"Wire mill workers said that a safety shield was welded back on my husband's machine before they carried Ron out of the mill on a stretcher," she said.

Laclede officials were not available for comment on her statement.

Ferguson's court order is "a big step forward" for an independent investigation into the death, a Laclede union official said.

Employees in the wire mill will cooperate with Mrs. Schmidt to find answers to her husband's tragic death," said Terry Wood, acting president of United Steelworkers Local 3643.

The union is fighting a move by Laclede officials to remove the words "willful violations" from a complaint filed by the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration, Wood said.

OSHA levied a $41,000 fine against Laclede Jan. 6 for "willful" and "serious" violations in the wire mill.

Laclede served notice on OSHA that it will contest the complaint that the company failed to protect wire mill employees from flying wire ends on the day Schmidt died, said Wes Taylor, area assistant director of OSHA.

Wooden will talk by telephone with an OSHA official in Chicago to ask him not to dismiss the willful violations allegation against Laclede.

"They were willful violations because our employees complained about the dangers on the machines, but the company failed to repair them," Wooden said.

The wire mill is operating with a "skeleton crew" of 40 workers, Wooden said. Laclede plans to close the mill and move most of the operation to Fremont, Ind., he said.

Carolyn Schmidt will accompany her attorneys and the accident investigator to Laclede April 18 to inspect the wire machine.

"It'll be my first look at the machine where my husband died," she said. "It'll be a very emotional experience for me. Ron's death is still like a nightmare."

Calvary Baptist to dedicate sanctuary

Exciting things are happening at Calvary Baptist Church in Granite City.

On Easter Sunday, the congregation worshipped for the first time in a newly renovated sanctuary — the fruits of a year-long, $125,000 project.

Last year, the church kicked off the project with a "Great Day In Giving" where members and friends contributed more than $30,000 toward the project on a single Sunday.

Members and friends contributed another $45,000 toward the cost of the worship center renovation throughout the year.

"I rejoice that we are able to glorify the Lord with this beautification of our worship center," said Fred Boatright, pastor of the church.

"The newly renovated sanctuary includes Colonial-style features, new chandeliers and spotlights, new pews, a new altar and pulpit, new carpet and an upgraded sound system."

The renovation is the first of a planned two-phase rebuilding program for the church. Plans call for future renovation of office and preschool spaces, a drive-through overhang in front of the church, and a building addition between the worship center and the church's education building.

The new worship center, located at 3000 Washington Ave., will be formally dedicated next Sunday, April 17 — designated as another "Great Day In Giving" with a goal of $50,000.

The Rev. Chester Parker, former pastor of Calvary Baptist, is scheduled to preach at the worship service, which begins at 10:40 a.m.

The worship service will be followed by a pot luck lunch at 12:30 p.m. and a dedication service at 2 p.m.

Mayor Ron Selph, the Rev. Keith Stanford from the state Baptist association, the Rev. Bob Carter, director of missions for the Madison County Baptist Association, and Gary Kaemper, architect for the project, are all expected to be on hand for the dedication.

ShowTime auditions for 'Little Shop of Horrors'

Auditions for the ShowTime Express musical comedy "Little Shop of Horrors" will be held Tuesday, April 12, at 7 p.m. at the Eagles Lodge (upstairs), 2558 Madison Ave.

There are principal roles for one woman and four men. There are also up to eight spots available for females as members of a hip-hopping, ever-changing, "do-wop" chorus. Small chorus roles are also available.

All individuals should bring a prepared three-minute song that showcases their voice range and movement style. Everyone will be asked to sing from the score. Principals will be expected to read from the script.

Newcomers are welcomed and encouraged to audition. Positions are also available for those interested in being stage manager or backstage personnel. A spokesman said, "Picture a decrepit downtown neighborhood, filled to the brim with the ooze of humanity; a ditty platinum blonde whose black eyes contrast sharply with her hair; her brutal boyfriend; a dentist by trade; a brooding flower shop owner; and an inept young flower shop employee who idolizes the blonde from afar. Also, there is a giant, carnivorous botanical nightmare. It's the basic premise of the hit musical that has been an off-Broadway comedy hit running since 1982. "Little Shop" has a menagerie of 1960s-style pop songs by Howard Ashman and Alan Menken, composers for such hit movies as "The Little Mermaid" and "Beauty and the Beast."

Lawn Maintenance

Keeping a lawn healthy is easy with tips from the experts at

FRANK'S
NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Caring for the lawn is a subject that touches nearly everyone. Many will stop at nothing to achieve a thick, lush carpet of green that everybody on the street envies. At the same time there are the folks who tolerate the lawn because it's there. Green, yellow or brown, the color doesn't matter. Their lawns get watered when it rains and cut every now and then to keep the neighbors from complaining. Most of us are somewhere in between.

It's not all that difficult to keep a healthy lawn healthy. Most don't require constant attention. The three things your lawn requires most are just what you'd expect: cutting, watering and feeding. When they're done right, your lawn benefits. When done wrong, it suffers. And when it suffers, you're stuck with fixing it up or tearing it all out and starting over. Most people can think of better ways to spend a nice spring day.

A lawn mower that's in good condition with a nice sharp blade is a must. And you should also know the recommended height for your type of lawn. So we're glad to help out.

Type of Grass	Mowing Height
Bluegrass
Common	2" - 3"
Named varieties	3/4" - 2 1/2"
Fescue
Chewing	1" - 2"
Red	2" - 3"
Tall	3" - 4"
Perennial rye	1" - 2 1/2"

Unless your lawn mower dates back to the late sixties, adjusting the height should involve no more than moving levers. Believe it or not, on some older mowers, changing the height meant removing the wheels and re-inserting them. Most people didn't bother. It was easier to leave the wheels where they were than search for that one wrench that probably was missing from the toolbox anyway. Fortunately, it's much easier today, but remember one thing: Shut the mower off before adjusting the height.

We've discussed lawn watering in the past, but here's a quick reminder. It's far better to water thoroughly once a week than lightly every day, although countless people will spend ten minutes or so waving the hose around the yard.

Feeding the lawn is not only easy, it's easy to remember why. Just think of the major holidays during spring and summer: Easter, Memorial Day, July 4th and Labor Day.

Fertilizing takes much less time than mowing, you don't have to do it as often, spreaders are easier to maneuver than mowers and they don't require filling with gas. Your major concern is getting the fertilizer where you want it and avoiding where you don't. Unlike lawn cutting, it's sometimes difficult to tell where you've been with the spreader. When using a drop spreader, walk a straight line and overlap slightly with each pass. If using a broadcast or hand-held spreader, watch the spray of the fertilizer so you can accurately judge where to begin the next path.

Your lawn's number one enemy is weeds. A weed is nothing more than a plant growing in the wrong place. Weeds compete with the desirable grasses for valuable food and water and destroy the picture-perfect lawn you're trying to achieve. Fortunately, Frank's carries a wide variety of weed-control products, and you should make it a point to check 'em out. Of course, prevention is better, and there are ways to accomplish it. We'll get into that in more detail come Wednesday.

Lotto winners smiling all way to the links

Avid golfers Vernon and Kathy Eardley of Edwardsville plan to spend more time on the links and on the road now that their income will tee up by $2 million a year for the next 20 years.

On Wednesday, the couple officially claimed the biggest Illinois State Lottery jackpot ever won Downstate and the third largest state payoff ever: a total of $40,904,305.

Vernon Eardley, 50, is president and chief executive officer and a major shareholder in Korte Construction Co. in Highland. "I intend to stay on with the company because I really enjoy it and the people there," he said Wednesday.

Employees of the firm "have been happy for us" and have urged him to stay, he said. The company has a payroll of 150 to 300, depending on what projects are under way.

Eardley has been with the firm for 25 years. He became president in 1978 and chief executive officer in 1988.

The Eardleys and their two sons, 8 and 10, live in a posh subdivision on Sunset Hills Country Club golf course near Edwardsville and have no plans to move.

Vernon Eardley would not say whether he and his wife were millionaires before they won the jackpot in the March 19 drawing.

"This makes it official," he said, holding up the winning lottery ticket before a Statehouse news conference in Springfield.

"I said there will be probably be 10 other winners, and he said, 'Who cares,'"

— Kathy Eardley
Lotto winner

"We've been smiling for the past two weeks, and I hope we keep on smiling," he said.

The only immediate plans the couple revealed for spending some of their new fortune is a family trip to Hawaii.

They said they intend to give some of the lottery proceeds to their church, St. Paul's Catholic Church in Highland, to their community and to deserving charities.

The couple said they did not want the money to change their lives. "except to the extent that we can do more good," Vernon Eardley said.

He said he had been regularly buying lottery tickets for 10 years without a winner. It was Kathy, who in a first-time purchase, bought the winner among $20 in quick pick tickets at the Troy Cigo station.

The couple was driving to church the next day when they checked their tickets against a newspaper listing. They pulled to the side of the road after realizing they had matched all six numbers.

"I said there will be probably be 10 other winners, and he said, 'Who cares,'" Kathy Eardley, 36, said Wednesday.

Instead of continuing to church, they drove to the Cigo station and discovered they were the sole winners of the jackpot that had been building after 11 straight rollovers.

Later that day, Vernon Eardley revealed the couple's good fortune by jokingly asking regular golfing buddies on the course: "Would you believe me if I told you I hit a hole in one?"

He then revealed he and his wife had hit the jackpot. One of the friends, Bob Jakel, asked to see his hand, and when he noticed it was shaking, he said, he believed him.

Vernon Eardley was wearing a golfing tie at Wednesday's news conference and said, "I hope my handicap gets a little better in golf because she (Kathy) still beats me."

Retirement planning complex

Retirement planning is a topic of intense interest for many people.

At or near retirement, you are going to be required to make some fundamental decisions about how you want your benefits paid. Now is a good time to start thinking about these decisions, so that you will be well positioned to make the right choices.

In the past, a retiree's income would have consisted primarily of a monthly pension check and Social Security.

However, today you may be faced with a pension, a 401(k) plan, an Individual Retirement Account rollover from a previous employer, older IRAs, personal savings, annuities, cash-value life insurance and Social Security.

The first step to avoiding problems and optimizing retirement income is to list all your retirement assets and determine what level of income they might generate and when it will be paid.

It is normally recommended to delay taking tax-deferred income if you do not need it. That way, the money continues to compound without being nailed by taxes each year.

Brian Mulhall

However, you may delay only so long before you have to start taking minimum distributions from any IRAs, 401(k) or other qualified plans at age 70 1/2. If you do not, you will be hit with a 50 percent excise tax.

Certain plans permit either a lump-sum payment or payments over time (annuity or installments).

If you do not need the money, you may delay imposition of taxes on these payments by a transfer to a self-directed IRA. If you take your money in a lump sum, you may also be eligible for special tax rules known as five-year and 10-year averaging. Essentially, the money is taxed as if you receive it over five or 10 years.

People who take the money out in the form of an annuity (a stream of payments over your lifetime) must also make some choices.

They must decide whether to get a larger payout based on just their lifetime or a smaller one based on theirs and their spouse over both lifetimes.

So, where can one begin? Write up a list of all your retirement assets and the dates on which you must begin taking payment. Then calculate or have calculated for you the stream of income from each of them.

If your income exceeds your expected expenses, you then decide which assets not to tap into but rather defer.

Retirement assets which do not require distributions and which can accumulate sufficiently to outpace inflation and taxes are the ones you will want to defer.

This is a serious issue as you enter retirement.

For many investments, it may be an irrevocable decision.

It is important to seek professional assistance if you have questions. After all, you will only retire once.

I am hosting a seminar in Granite City at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 21. See the advertisement in this paper or call me for further details.

Horoscope

Sunday, April 10
The tranquil and thoughtful dark-of-the-moon phase lets issues rest in the morning. Then, the new moon moves into Aries this afternoon, and you know what you want. Place yourself in your lover's shoes, and do it fast! Mercury in Aries makes you brash and overconfident — don't make pie-in-the-sky promises. Some are more sensitive to misunderstandings or neglect. Be courteous.
ARIES (March 21-April 19). Sound decision-making garners a quick reward. A spouse or sweetheart is not being too optimistic about your financial picture. Improvements happen this week. A family leader, answers all your questions.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Contact distant friends — you are needed more than you know. A seemingly trivial talent suddenly has a place and purpose in the week ahead. Drain bad feelings out of rivalry — competition is healthy.
GEMINI (May 21-June 21). A routine visit brings exceptional harmony among family members. Share information reading material with a troubled friend. In the week ahead, a lover finds you irresistible — ask for anything you want.
CANCER (June 22-July 22). A contest of wits spurs study early in the week. Your honest critique inspires a loved one toward success. Exercise routines become second priority — but a new partner helps. Have a profitable phone conversation tonight.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). An accurate premonition surprises your friends — consider metaphysical research. Reflect on a romantic offer — you can do better! Financial expectations are high, but fulfillment happens before Friday.
TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (April 10). Aid from your family makes it possible for you to start a new vocation this year. Let a romantic partner give the financial support you need this month. May shows you with money. Social recognition in June leads to career advancement. Libra and Scorpio are the best summer romantic partners. Your lucky numbers are 3 and 18. Reconciliations in July bring money and more freedom.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). An elderly relative is more accepting of your ideas — this week is perfect for breaking news or making suggestions. A partner goes in on bigger purchases, leaving you more money left over.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Pay-backs come just in time — you needn't chase after funds that are owed to you. An interesting acquaintance melts away any shyness you feel. This week's social schedule makes plenty of room for romances.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Recreation happens as the result of positive working relationships. Your financial gain is a family member's primes concern — this week, be appreciative, and your family will be especially generous.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Complimentary goods make a business arrangement more lucrative. A spouse or sweetheart illustrates feelings boldly this week, while increased sensitivity improves the relationship.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Smooth talk is your special gift this week. You have outstanding luck in sales, presentations and proclamations of love. Beware of hot tips — research saves money. Children adopt your healthy values.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). To meet you. This week's savings in one area of your budget allows for extravagance in another. Family funding for an educational pursuit comes through by Friday.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You prove trustworthy to a new friend. Artistry receives joyous appreciation — you gain a paying pupil this week. Leadership is needed in a club you belong to, so run for office.

168 enjoy Easter egg hunt; First Place holds banquet

Lucille Martin

Lucille Martin covers the Pontoon Beach scene for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 931-0721.

The Pontoon Beach Lions Club II held the annual Easter egg hunt Saturday, April 2. It was a great time for 168 boys and girls who attended.

First, second and third prizes were given in five age groups. Tickets were drawn for filled baskets and stuffed rabbits. Lions and Lionesses, along with friends, joined in the work. A sincere thanks for all the help is extended to those involved.

A special thanks is extended to the Pontoon Beach firemen, who are always there with all their help each year. A special thanks is also sent out to the women who spent many hours working to make the event possible.

Kathy Goodrich and Alma Reynolds were the chairpersons. They did a wonderful job, and everyone who worked together makes for a job well done.

After the party and egg hunt were over, the Lions and friends went to Colonial Care Home and gave candy, cookies and stuffed bunnies to all the senior residents. A good day filled with love and sharing.

Eighteen people attended the First Place victory banquet at Jay Corbett speaking on weight loss at the First Place victory banquet, held at Shoney's Restaurant.

Shoney's restaurant Tuesday, March 29. Lyn Hart, director of First Place, welcomed all members and guests.

The Brush-Arbor Trio — Ann Rainwater, Linda French and Gary Chaney, all of the Pontoon Baptist Church — sang three inspiring songs. Pastor Ed Hart led in prayer for the meeting and asked the food blessing.

Jay Corbett, one of the First Place members and a big loser of many pounds, gave a very uplifting and positive speech. He said he used to pray, "Lord, help me keep my appetite in line with my needs." Now he has found the joy and discipline in life through First Place. He needed something during the week to help him with a weight problem, and he made that choice when he chose to discipline his life through First Place.

First Place is a Christ-centered health program where friends meet together and have spiritual, mental, emotional and physical meetings. First Place has nine commitments, consisting of 13-week sessions, meeting each Tuesday at 6:45 p.m. at Julie Nicole receiving her pin from Lyn Hart at the First Place victory banquet.

Pontoon Baptist Church, 4000 Highway 111. The next session will begin on April 12 at 6:45 p.m.

The first Tuesday is an orientation meeting to give some highlights on the program to see if it is right for you. The meeting is a must to join the program. Lyn Hart is the director and Tammy Schenke is the assistant director. In the past session, 13 people finished the session with a total loss of 180 pounds. Four people lost 20 pounds or more. One lady was a high loser of 35 pounds.

Those attending the victory banquet were Jay Corbett, Laverne Corbett, John Nicol, Julie Nicole, Linda Boswell, Dee Owens, Ashlee Schenke, Louise Haynes, Ed Hart, Lyn Hart, Wendy Stanton, Tammy Schenke, Clint Potter, Pauline Buchel, Ann Rainwater, Linda French and Gary Chaney. For more information, call the church at 931-6256, or Lyn Hart at 931-7955.

Students entertain NARFE chapter

Chapter 1067 of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees met recently. President Katherine Shockley opened the meeting by greeting members and guests.

A prayer by Tharah Erney, the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and lunch followed at Charlie's Restaurant.

Program chairman, Elmer Elrecht, introduced two high school students who entertained the group with a Mel Brooks' skit entitled The Producer.

Aaron Deimer and Aaron Smothers were the participants in the presentation.

The business meeting opened with the reading and approval of the Feb. 14 minutes.

Helen Martin gave the treasurer's report, which was approved pending future audit. The report of the audit committee, by Ruth Wycoff, concluded that the transactions of December 1993 were in order.

Shockley gave the legislative report which highlighted attacks on the Cola increases. The 2.6 percent increase was to still be effective March 1.

She also announced that the state convention is to be held May 12 through 14 in Peoria. In the absence of local representation, the chapter's proxy will be given by Lorman P. Wehling, secretary, Illinois Federation of Chapters of NARFE.

The program for April will feature a discussion of Health Care Reform by two representatives of the Madison County Medical Society, Drs. Berger and Rallo.

In May, meteorologist John Fuller is tentatively scheduled to be the guest speaker.

Service officer, Georgina McMillan, gave a brief report on the current status of bills introduced to amend current legislation requiring social security government pension effect. No substantive action is expected in 1994.

One new member, Roger Etter, was introduced; he is from Collinsville and a retiree from TROSCOM. Four birthdays and two anniversaries were recognized.

The $50/50 drawing was won by George Langdon. The attendance prize was won by Vernon Goedeke.

The meeting was adjourned at approximately 1 p.m. The next monthly meeting will be at 11:30 a.m. April 11.

Church Women United to collect toys for center

Millie Clements told the members of Church Women United the legend of the swallows returning on March 19 each year to the mission at Capistrano, Calif., at the group's regular monthly meeting at the Central Christian Church on March 24.

President Helen Stumpe opened the meeting.

At each of the coming meetings, books, toys, games and puzzles for children will be collected to be taken to the children's center at the Dwight, Ill., chapel.

Protestant Welfare will sponsor the "Care and Share" program Aug. 3 through 9 to help outfit children for school with new clothes and shoes. Volunteers are needed to help with this program.

Phoenix Center is also in need of help for transportation, tutoring, child care and office help. Applications are necessary for volunteers.

On April 10, Music, Music will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Nameoki United Methodist church, 1900 Pontoon Road, Granite City. Admission is $2 in advance and $2.50 at the door. Refreshments will be served following the program, which is in its 11th year. Mae Lee is the coordinator.

The CROP walk will be held beginning at 1:30 p.m. April 17 at Wilson Park. Sponsors and walkers are urgently needed. A goal of $10,000 is set, 25 percent of which is kept in the Quad-City area. All walkers are asked to bring canned goods.

The May fellowship salad luncheon will be held at 11:30 a.m. May 6 at Central Christian Church. The theme is Go, See and Act in the Community. Joyce Bennington is the chairwoman. Tickets will not be sold at the door. Money collected should be turned in by April 28 at the regular board meeting.

A program will follow the luncheon. Yearly collection of the Least Coin will be dedicated at this event.

Protestant Welfare is sponsoring a talent show at 7 p.m. on May 20 at the local high school. Money collected will be used to reduce the mortgage debt on their building. Tickets set for $5 in advance and $6 at the door. The next board meeting will be held at 10 a.m. April 28 at Central Christian Church.

co-captains, and the Warriors are depending on both players to lead the offense this season.

So far, Ridenour has thrived under pressure. He keyed a seventh-inning rally Thursday against Alton by doubling in the tying run in a 2-1 victory. Ridenour went 2-for-4 with two doubles on a day Granite City got by with just six hits.

"I didn't mind if I have to do the job," Ridenour said. "I feel real comfortable with it. We have a young team, and I think everyone will do real well."

"Anybody can step up and get a clutch hit. If it's not me, I'll root just as hard for someone else to do it."

Ridenour says he and his younger teammates have benefited from the presence of assistant coach Jim Greenwald, the former professional baseball player. Ridenour has adjusted his stance slightly and is refining his consistency and discipline at the plate.

As the team's third hitter, Ridenour is counted on for the clutch hits, a role he seems to relish. Some preseason work with Greenwald helped prepare Ridenour for this spring.

"I'm seeing the ball better," Ridenour said. "I've just been taking my cuts and working on my discipline."

"The first day we practiced inside, (Greenwald) just told me to close my stance. Last year, there were times when I got down in the count and swung at a bad pitch. I think I'm more loose this year. I'm trying not to get myself out."

"I think the big difference with Jeff right now is he's taking more pitches instead of hitting into outs," Lignoul said. "He's more selective. Coach Greenwald has been stressing to our program because of his knowledge of hitting. The kids are real confident in what he's telling them, and Jeff is a great example."

Ridenour is one who leads by example. He got Granite City going against Roxana last Monday by belting a two-run homer in the top of the first for a 2-0 lead. The Warriors went on to win 14-3 in five innings.

Ridenour started the game, but lasted just two innings and did not have the command he had against Wood River.

"I didn't really feel that comfortable," Ridenour said. "It was a cold day and my arm never got loose. I didn't pitch the way I should have."

Still, Lignoul said, Ridenour pitched well enough to keep the Shells off stride.

Against Roxana, (SIUE baseball coach) Bo Collins was there with the gun and he was throwing as many as an hour at times into a cross wind," Lignoul said. "He was always at 80 or 85."

What can make Ridenour so dominating is his ability to mix in offspeed pitches with his fastballs. Ridenour pitches with just enough control to keep batters guessing. Pitching coach Daren DePew has called Ridenour "effectively wild."

"That's what makes him tough," DePew said.

"He can use that wildness to his advantage if he works inside and then comes back with a strike," Lignoul said. "He's very effective that way. I don't like the word wild, because he really hasn't been all over the place."

"He throws very hard and he has confidence in his abilities," Ridenour, a pitcher his entire career, has come a long way since his sophomore season. Lignoul served as Granite City's pitching coach under former coach Bob Stenemeier and remembers when Ridenour was raw.

"He's always been blessed with a great arm," Lignoul said. "His problem was his mechanics, and he's worked very hard at that."

"Because of his arm strength and other talents, Ridenour seems to have unlimited potential. He has drawn recruiting interest since last year, and the leading contenders for him are at this point are SIUE and St. Louis University."

"Although several junior colleges are also interested in him, Ridenour seems destined to play for a Division I or II school."

"I have no idea where I'll wind up," Ridenour said. "I haven't decided yet. I knew I'd probably play somewhere, but I didn't expect Division I or II."

"He has a lot of things that people look for," Lignoul said. "He's got good size, a good arm, speed, and power. The people that are looking at him are not talking about just one position. They feel he's good enough to play two."

Until that time comes, Ridenour is content to play out his high school career. Over the past three years, he has enjoyed loyal backing from his parents, Gary and Kathy Ridenour, who attend Granite City's games without fail.

"They're great," Ridenour said. "They're always there."

"He comes from a good family, which you can tell," Lignoul said. "He has that work ethic. He knows he has something to build on and he's working hard."

Players needed for Granite City select team

A select fast-pitch softball team for girls born in 1980-81 is being formed for this summer. For more information, call Frank Paulkner at 876-6402 or Lynn Wright at 877-3033.

The team will not be affiliated with the Granite City Park District, as previously reported.

•Redbirds

Belin was impressed with the way Lievers concentrated while he was on the mound.

"When he needed to be heard today, he did. And he got ahead in the count, which is a tremendous asset for him," Belin said. "He threw a lot of strikes and he kept the hitters off-balance. The last balls that were hit were the hardest they hit all day."

ALTON HAD a great chance to score against Warrior starter Corey Dickerson in the fifth inning. Aaron Ruckman reached third base with only one out and it appeared Alton would get on the board.

But Dickerson got his bearings and struck out Brady Green and Robert Fox to get out of the jam.

Dickerson gave up three hits, struck out six batters and walked two in going the distance for the first time this season. The senior rightlander retired the side in order in the first, second and sixth innings and improved to 2-1.
